GRAMMAR AND PATRIOTISM.

There are certain questions of the usage of language to which the rule of grammar are open to double construction and which sometimes come up for discussion.

One of them is causing an animated contest among the grammar experts in the east. It is whether the term "United States" be used as a collective noun requiring a predicate in the singular number, or a plural noun.

The discussion was started by some one criticizing ex-Secretary John W. Foster, because in his work entitled "Century of American Diplomacy" he made use of the singular verb through out in that connection.

Mr. Foster was sensitive enough about it to take the pains to ascertain how eminent usage sustained him in the construction. He has made known the result of his investigation and it is rather interesting.

It is his conclusion, that despite the wording of the Constitution, where a full justification for saying, "The United States is," and not "The United States are."

He admits that in the early days of the Republic, while the fact of its being an aggregation of sovereign States was still prominent in men's minds the plural usage was the common one but it was not universal, even at that time and in one place in the Constitution there is the phrase, "Controversies to which the United States shall be a party" not "shall be parties, as strict consistency would require.

As to precedents, Mr. Foster names among the statesmen who habitually employed the singular form, Hamilton, Jefferson, Seward, Blaine, Edmunds, Webster, Benton, Fish, Gresham, Reid, Olney and others, constituting a long and varied category.

In the earlier presidential message the plural form prevails, but Andrew Jackson used the other and his example has been followed by his successors and since Lincoln all of them use the singular verb with "United States."

The Journal modestly volunteers the opinion that Lindley Murray and our national motto, "E Pluribus Unum," both justify Mr. Foster's position, albeit our use of the plural verb in speaking jointly of the man and the motto may invite criticism as did the author's use of the singular one in connection with our consolidated Republic.

The United States as its motto implies, is one nation, composed of many states, the same as Great Britain which is composed of a number of countries.

The singular verb is as applicable to Columbia as to Albion. In fact, the use of the plural in speaking or writing of Uncle Sam's domain is ungrammatical, unpatriotic and, it may almost be said, seditious.

THE TARIFF AND FOREIGN COMMERCE.

There is some uneasiness in American commercial circles about the future action of Europe over protected products in the United States and their future position in European markets. There is not any doubt about the feeling there is against American protected products in the markets of European countries.

The opposition to American products comes chiefly from manufacturers of like goods exported by manufacturers in the United States to be sold in the markets of the old country. American manufacturers it is claimed, pay better wages to their employees, pay the freights and the expense of handling not to mention interest on money invested, and undersell the manufacturers in Europe in their own markets, which has its explanation in some department of American management.

The German and Austrian producers say it is the American protective system which is aiding the American producer to undersell them in their own markets. The theory and the facts, it is claimed, establish beyond any question that the whole American people are made to assist through the operation of law, or through the tariff system, American manufacturers in defeating European producers at home. It is true, as stated by producers in the old country, that it is the tariff which gives to the American producers the chief advantage in Europe. The tariff excludes European manufacturers from the United States, which gives a home market to American producers at very high prices, which enables them to enter into competition with foreign producers.

The unusually high prices charged in the United States for home manufactured products gives returns that more than cover any loss sustained in competition in foreign markets. The advantage is decidedly in favor of the American manufacturers under the circumstances connected with American and European products. The American has an exclusive home market, where he can recover losses sustained when in competition with foreign producers in foreign countries, which gives an advantage to American products that the products of other countries do not have in the open markets of the world.

There is much said about the energy of commercial men in the United States when placed in competition with the energy of European tradersmen but it is not altogether the superior energy of trades people on the west side of the Atlantic, when a protected home market is considered in connection with energy, which is claimed by the American manufacturers and their friends to be doing the work. The whole American people, through the tariff system, are engaged in furnishing energy for the American manufacturer in the form of high prices paid for home products.

Manufacture can afford to be full of overflowing with business energy when he has a nation of the dimensions and strength of the United States at his back which is supplying the motive power required to create commercial energy in the form of high prices to cover American losses on home products in foreign markets.

The supply of commercial energy in American producers so much talked about is ascertained to have its fountain in the American people. It is also ascertained that the millions of horse power pump used to pump energy into the manufacturers and into American commerce from the people is the tariff. It is claimed that the source which unrolls energy for American commerce is inexhaustible. It is reported by eastern newspapers that Secretary Taft attempted to make an estimate of the commercial energy there is in the people of the United States, which he learned on examination to be equal to the distance from the earth to the ved stars, or beyond computation.

The factors used to solve the problem were the tax paying capacity of the American people and their docile nature. The latter was regarded by the secretary as wonderful upon the theory that the officer they are tapped better they like it. The Secretary, among other matters examined, looked into the conclusions that had been arrived at in Europe about American commerce. He learned that the tariff pumping process employed in this country was to the people of Europe the most perplexing discovery they had made.

The capacity of the people to respond to the tariff pumping process they could not understand upon any European theory or practice for raising revenue.

He also learned that protection against American manufacturers was talked about and that threats were made by manufacturers to protect themselves against the American tariff pumping process, so largely extended upon under the Dingley tariff.

The Secretary closed by saying that he future hope for American commerce is in commercial treaties made with other powers which would avoid a necessity for a repeal of the present tariff law.

The last statement made by the Secretary is an admission that the American tariff is reacting upon American commerce and will continue to react to its detriment, if not to its destruction in the future, in a commercial sense.

THE CROP BULLETIN.

Exports Received From All Sections of the State and Summarized.

The forepart of the week ending May 20th was warm and very favorable to farming interests, but the latter part was quite cool and windy with rather heavy frosts on several mornings.

Thunder showers occurred in portions of Elko county, early in the week doing much good to the ranges and growing crops.

All reports received indicate that the grain and alfalfa crops are in excellent condition and making rapid growth. The planting of potatoes and gardens is still in progress. There is complaint that worms are doing some damage to gardens and alfalfa in northern, southern and western districts. The outlook for fruit continues excellent. Fruit trees are blooming in the extreme northern portion, and alfalfa is being cut and stacked in the extreme southern portion. The range feed is reported good in nearly all sections and cattle are getting fat and sleek.

The Carson and Walker Rivers are overflowing their banks and causing some damage to adjacent farm lands.

FOUGHT FOR HIS LIFE.

"My father and sister both died of Consumption," writes J. T. Weatherwax, of Wyandotte, Mich., "and I was saved from the same frightful fate only by Dr. King's New Discovery. An attack of pneumonia left an obstinate cough and a very severe lung trouble which an excellent doctor could not help but a few months' use of this wonderful medicine made me as well as ever and I gained much in weight." Infallible for croup, whooping cough, all throat and lung trouble. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

ABOUT MINE AND MINER

Notes Gathered From Exchanges About This Industry.

There were shipped this week from Eureka to the railroad shops at Sacramento 63,520 pounds of iron from the old Smoky mill near Hamilton. Sentinel.

Surveyor General Kyle came through Sunday night. He was joined here by Colonel Lowe, and the two gentlemen will examine mining property near Cortez—Lovecock Tribune.

Considerable litigation will be necessary to determine who owns the salt mines along the Virgin River, says the Pioche Record. There have been several locations made on each salt claim, some locating them as ledges and others as placer claims while others have posted on notices both as placer and lode claims.

Superintendent L. C. Doty of the Elly Mining and Milling Company went out last Monday in company with E. D. R. Thompson and P. C. Weber to visit the Pilot Knob and Copper Flat properties. Mr. Doty, during the years he has been engaged in mining, has had large experience in examining mining properties, but he says that in all his travels he never saw such a wonderful copper deposit as he beheld on Monday last at West Camp. Mr. Doty says there can be no doubt as to Elly's future as a copper camp, and that the establishing of reduction works will follow as a matter of course.—White Pine News.

SAGEBRUSH OCCURRENCES

Interesting Happenings in the State Cleared From Exchanges.

The Oregon Short Line is pushing work right ahead. The grass does not grow under the workers' feet, while the agents for the Clark road keep busy. Both roads are determined and it looks as though there will be two roads built through this county.—Pioche Record.

Surveys for the branch line of the Virginia & Truckee railroad through Carson Valley to California are completed beyond the Mountain Home and there is some apparent authority for the rumor that the work of construction will begin this season.—Carson News.

The Secretary of the Interior last Friday ordered patented to the State of Nevada a list of land selected under the school grant embracing 2710 acres in the Carson City district.

A meeting has been called at Lovelock to make arrangements for a Fourth of July celebration.

A brick yard has been established at Lovelock. The first kiln of 100,000 burned next month and all have been sold.

A postoffice has been established at Azurite, Churchill county, with Lute F. White as Postmaster.

Ferington and Wabuska are to be connected by telephone.

WORK BEGUN.

The Reno Wheelmen's crackjack relay team began riding on their new track today, under the management of Captain Ed Shaver and trainer "King" Ryan. Only about ten or a dozen of the riders are now in training, but all will be in line by the last of the month. The new track is in fairly good shape, but a force of men are hard at work improving it and a week's more work on it will make it one of the best 'bike' tracks on the coast.

The captain wishes to impress upon the riders the necessity of getting down to work at once as the coming race will be the hardest the Reno Club has ever taken on. The time is short. The training quarters have been moved to the track and all is in readiness for good hard training.

Charged With Embezzlement

ELKO, Nev., May 22.—A. L. Snyder, postmaster at Tuscarora, was arrested Monday by Deputy United States Marshal Humphreys and brought here for examination.

Snyder was arrested on two charges of embezzling postal funds aggregating about $1,400. He had a hearing yesterday before Commissioner Morgan. He is now in jail, being unable to furnish bonds. He says he is innocent of wrong-doing, and explains the shortage during his term of office by saying that he had been intoxicated most of the time and that others, who had access to the office, got away with the money.

Snyder claims to be a relative of United States Senator Foraker, and it is asserted that this influence kept him in office against the desire of the people of Tuscarora.

SAVES LIFE

Willard, Ill., August 1, 1898.

I was in bed for four weeks. When I was called my child died. When I began to sit up I felt so weak and had such terrible pains in my back and hips. I had kidney trouble and falling of the womb. I also had hysterical spells. I was in a bad condition when I received your "Ladies' Birthday Almanac" and read the advertisement of Wine of Cardui and three packages of Theodore's Black-Draught. I feel like a new person now. I can do all my work and can walk out to see any of my neighbors. I believe I would have been in the grave had it not been for Wine of Cardui. IT SAVED MY LIFE.

Mrs. ALICE DAVIS.

It is well that women are more patient than men. Few men could bear the bitter pangs, the agony and distress that women endure. Thousands of women have come to look upon suffering as a duty of their sex. But there are many instances of this heroic forbearance which now renders unnecessary. Women need no longer suffer for modesty's sake. Wine of Cardui brings relief to modest women in the privacy of their homes. Many of the best houses in this city are never without this great medicine. It cures whites and falling of the womb and completely eradicates these dragging physical pains. Mrs. Davis' cure shows you conclusively what you may expect if you follow her example and take Wine of Cardui. Theodore's Black-Draught aids Wine of Cardui by regulating the stomach and bowels. When you ask your druggist for these medicines, be sure you get them. It was Wine of Cardui and Theodore's Black-Draught that saved Mrs. Davis' life. Never take a substitute.

SHUDDERS AT HIS PAST.

"I recall now with horror," says Mail Carrier Burnett Mann, of Levanna, O., "my three years of suffering from Kidney trouble. I was hardly ever free from dull aches or acute pains in my back. To stoop or lift mail sacks made me groan. I felt tired, worn out, about ready to give up when I began to use Electric Bitters, but six bottles completely cured me and made me feel like a new man." NEVADA'S DISPLAY

Fine Exhibit of Minerals at the Pan-American Exposition.

A Nevada writing from Buffalo has the following to say of the State's mining exhibit at the Pan-American exposition:

"The mining building in all its glory will be opened Sunday evening, with all the exhibits in place. One thousand invitations have been sent out to the prominent men of the country and all the officials will be there. It will be full dress and the first reception to be given at the exposition. Nevada's Commissioner, James A. Yerlington, is in charge of the music and entertainment and also of the organization of the Executive Commissioners, the chairman of each State being entitled to membership and probably the South American republics will also be included. This will give us official as well as social standing at the exposition.

"Nevada's exhibit will be most attractive at night. In the center will be the statue of a miner, three feet high, holding a piece of ore in one hand and a pick in the other. It is made of plaster. On one side will be a pyramid of rich ores and above a cluster of electric lights. The lights will be suspended from the top of the cases the entire length of fifty feet. The mill will be run by electric power and started by pushing a button.

"Mr. Yerlington received a fine collection of native silver ore this morning from Mr. Bell and the Tonopah exhibit is on the way. We make by far the best collective exhibit of any State in comprising over one hundred samples of ores. The leading Nevada mining journal is going to devote a long article to Nevada at the Pan-American exposition. A great many correspondents have already telegraphed for their papers, and I think it is a fine idea to have a great deal of news from this exhibit.

"Nevada's mining exhibit looks very much like a mine. So carefully has Mr. Yerlington catalogued and arranged the exhibit that a child can now find at the ore and find out all about it without having to ask any one questions.

"Many Eastern people own mines in Nevada and they are using every day at the Nevada State looking at the products of the State they are becoming interested in."

ANNUAL DEBATE

The Universities of Nevada and Utah Will Contest Argumentatively.

The annual debate between the University of Utah and the University of Nevada will take place Friday evening of this week in the gymnasium. An interesting contest is expected. Nevada will defend the negative side of the question. "Resolved that the promotion of industry by subsidy, bonus or bounty is bad public policy in the United States." Utah will uphold the affirmative.

The Nevada debaters, Irvin W. Ayres, Fenton A. Bonham and George Steinmeyer, have been working hard and have to rehearse the debate of Nevada at Utah last year.

Clark, Fred A. Arthur, Willing and LeRoy Sanders compose the Utah team.

On Thursday afternoon there will be a rally of students and faculty in front of Morrill Hall. There will be speeches by members of the faculty and students and music by the Cadet Band.

The University of Nevada men intend to show the visitors that they have college spirit, as well as debaters and track men.

COPPER QUEEN IS BONDED.

It was learned yesterday that a bond had been placed upon the Copper Queen mine in Copper Gulch, a short distance north of town. This proposition was discovered a year and a half ago and was shortly thereafter bonded by C. E. Wallace and a Mr. Hamilton. The amount of the bond was $10,000. A sixty foot shaft was sunk on the ledge and a good showing of ore was made. The bond would have been returned to a sale had not Mr. Wallace's death intervened.

The same outfit that re-bonded the mine went out yesterday afternoon looking at the L. C. group in the same locality.

A WARNING TO BE HEEDED.

For some days past, a crowd of boys have been engaged in jumping out-going trains and riding for some distance. They have been repeatedly warned by the officers of the town to stay away from the trains, but to no avail. In some instances relatives of the young fellows have witnessed their actions around the yard and it seems that they do not care, as the boys now jump even the passenger trains.

But if any accidents to them should occur, which is sure to happen some day, the railroad company would of course be all to blame, while in reality the blame would be with the parents in allowing their children to be train-jumpers.

MINERS' ASSOCIATION.

The meeting at the Court House Friday evening to organize the Washoe County Mining Men's Association promises to be well attended. Considerable interest in the proposition is being displayed by local claim owners.

RENO AND NEVADA

Let the Sagebrush State and its Metropolis Greet the Chief Executive.

The date for President McKinley's departure has not yet been settled. Reports of Mrs. McKinley's condition are very reassuring. She will doubtless be able to travel in a few days.

Preparations are already being made by the Southern and Central Pacific Companies for the safe and rapid transit of the Presidential train. An engine will precede the train several miles and one will follow it, ensuring safety from collision. In addition to this there will be a suspension of traffic for two hours so that there will be almost absolute freedom from danger.

The track will be inspected very carefully.

It has been given out that the President will speak briefly in the largest cities along the route. Reno will certainly be among the number, provided the hour of the passage of the train is neither too late nor too early in the day.

It behooves the people of Nevada to give Mr. McKinley the greeting due the Chief Executive. Arrangements should be made to have Governor Sadler or some other State dignitary introduce him. The program will necessarily be brief. A band of music will be a necessary feature, there should be an abundance of bunting and flags displayed and, above all, as big a crowd of people as can be gathered together.

With all Nevada is expecting from the Federal government it will not do to show apathy in this matter.

MINERS AND PROSPECTS

What is Being Done With Pick and Shovel in This Vicinity.

A group of claims on Granite Hill, formerly known as the Granite East group, have been bonded to San Francisco mining men.

Water is now coming in freely in the Bell mine. The ore body is growing richer, but maintaining its original characteristics.

A live rig must now be spoken for in advance, so great is the demand by prospectors and mining experts.

Rich returns have been received from a carload of first-class ore shipped last week from the Joker mine on Granite Hill.

Dr. Edwards is on his way from New York. He will reopen the North Mountain copper mine.

Several disputes have arisen over claim boundaries in the vicinity of Bryan City. Surveyors are in demand to lay off lines.

Jack Gooding and Bert Frazier of this city are working a pile of tailings in Smoky Valley.

THE GREAT NORTHERN.

The Nevada-California-Oregon Company's surveyors are still engaged on the extension to the Sierra Valleys line. Several persons are figuring on the contract to grade the line and lay the ties into Mohawk Valley. It is believed that the road will be completed within the next three or four months.

Advices have been received by the N.C.O. Company that its new train will be completed and shipped to Reno by the first of June. It will be a splendidly equipped passenger train, much more handsome and comfortable than any that have hitherto run over this road.

DEDICATED CAR SHOPS.

Last evening the new car shops of the Nevada-California-Oregon Railroad Company were dedicated by a pleasant house warming.

A dance was given by the carpenters and masons who were employed in its construction. The spacious floor was in good condition for dancing and the room was neatly decorated.

A large crowd attended and a merry time was had until after midnight. Several of the general officers of the road were present.

A BRANCH MAY BE FORMED.

J. E. Pamplin, General Agent of the Western Loan and Savings Company of Salt Lake, Utah, is in this city looking up the possibility of forming a local branch of his company in Reno.

A VISIT TO SUSANVILLE

A Plan to Help the People of Lassen County Celebrate

Mr. C. E. Emerson, proprietor, has informed the N.C.O. Ry. that the hotel will positively be finished, and opened June 1st, and in order to celebrate the occasion and give the Reno people an opportunity of visiting this modern hotel, tickets will be sold on June 1st to Susanville and return at one fare for the round trip, and this reduction includes the stage line as well as the N.C.O. Ry. Tickets will be good to return up to and including June 5th. There will be a sufficient number of passenger cars attached to Train No. 1 leaving the N.C.O. depot at 8:15 a. m. to accommodate all those who may desire to visit Susanville on the occasion of the opening of the thoroughly modern hotel which Mr. Emerson has erected.

We are informed that the good people of Susanville expect many visitors from all the country around on the auspicious occasion, and that great preparations are being made for the entertainment of all visitors to Susanville regardless of whether they are guests of the hotel or not. There will be music and dancing for the pleasure seekers, and ice cream and strawberry festivals at all the churches in Susanville for the entertainment of the religiously inclined, and while there may be some lack of entertainment for those whose sole pleasure is "gambing on the green," there will be ample liquid and substantial refreshments of every kind and nature for those who believe in having a jolly outing.

The erection of such a substantial and thoroughly modern hotel at Susanville will doubtless serve as an object lesson for some of our Reno bonanzas. We shall have more to say regarding the excursion and the arrangements for the entertainment of visitors from time to time up to the very day of the opening of the hotel.

UTAH VS. NEVADA.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Universities of Nevada and Utah will try conclusions in a field day on the University oval. Tickets will cost fifty cents and are already on sale.

This promises to be an exceedingly interesting and hard fought event. Both varieties of grand old teams and, although the Sagebrushers won easily last year, Utah will put up a much better fight Saturday, although the locals have no thought of losing.
